THE BOMBAY ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

Several influential members of the Bombay community having represented to Mrs. Buxton (pupil of Jacques Herz, and student of the Conservatoires of Music in Brussels and Antwerp) that an Institution where Music, Instrumental and Vocal, would be thoroughly taught, on moderate terms, is a want that has been long felt, she, acting on their suggestion, has founded the above Academy: it has been located in the house known as the "Nunnery," next the residence lately occupied by the Rev. E. H. Cooper, "The Wilderness," Mazagon.

The house has been suitably fitted up for the accommodation both of visitors and pupils. The Concert Hall (100 ft by 43) possesses good accoustic properties.

Mrs. Buxton has been so fortunate as to secure the services of Signor Alberto Zelman as Musical Director and Professor of the Institution, and those of Mr. Herberte Souse (late of the Sacred Harmonic Society, London,) as Assistant in the training of the Singing Classes.

Classes will be formed for tuition in the Tonic Solfa system: particular attention will be paid to the cultivation and development of the voice.

The pupils of this Academy will receive a Sound Education both in the Theory and Practice of Music. Hours will be set apart for the tuition of Native Ladies, who (should they desire it) will be under the immediate care of Mrs. Buxton herself.

In connection with the Institution, Concerts will be given, when pupils will have an opportunity of displaying the advancement made in their studies. Grand Evening Concerts will also be given twice a month, in which the professionals connected with the Institution and distinguished Amateurs will perform. These Concerts will consist of Classical, Operatic, and Popular Music; and, occasionally, of Sacred Music entirely.

Any member tolerably proficient in music, wishing to perform at any of the Concerts, will have the privilege of attending the rehearsals for such Concert, gratis.

All Concerts will be free to members and pupils: there will be a few tickets issued to visitors not connected with the Institution.

The Proprietress of this Institution is sanguine that, with the encouragement and support of the Musical Public, she will be the means of laying the foundation of an Academy of Music similar to those established in the principal Cities of Europe.

It is gratifying to Mrs. Buxton to announce that she has already been promised the support of some influential members of the Bombay community.

Subjoined is the proposed Scale of Charges:—

	Per month. Rs.
Instruction in the Theory and Practice of Music, on any Instrument, two Lessons per week, of one hour each	15
Instruction in Vocal Music, two Lessons per week, of one hour each	20
Instruction in either Vocal or Instrumental Music, in a Class, two Lessons per week, of one hour each	5
Instruction in Vocal and Instrumental Music, four Lessons per week, of one hour each	30
Instruction by Lecture (in class) in Harmony, thorough Bass and Composition, two Lectures per week, of one hour each	10
Private instruction in the preceding, two Lessons per week, of one hour each	20

Pupils may be attended at their own residences.

The Subscription for Members will be Rs. 15 per quarter.

Schools attended by special arrangement.

Families will be constituted members at a reduction of 50 per cent for every Ticket after the first.

The Academy is open from this date, and Mrs. Buxton is prepared to register the names of Members and Pupils. All Communications to be addressed to

Mrs. BUXTON,

ADVERTISING AT RAILWAY STATIONS.

THE Proprietor of the "Bombay Gazette" Press having leased (among other privileges) from the Great Indian Peninsula Railway Company, and the Bombay, Baroda, and Central India Railway Company, the exclusive right of advertising at all the Railway Stations belonging to these two Companies, is prepared to contract with parties desirous of posting Notices or Advertisements on the lines.

The announcements may be in English or in any of the Native languages.

The advantages which Railway Stations present as a means of bringing intimations of all kinds before the public have been demonstrated in England by the extensive use which is made by Advertisers, of every station, great and small, along every line in the United Kingdom.

Insurance Companies, Shipping Companies, Hotel-keepers, Merchants, Traders, and others who wish to force their business on the notice of the public, all alike value the prilege of Railway Station Advertising.

There is no reason why the privilege should not be also specially valuable to Advertisers in India. Looking to the great and increasing number of Native Railway passengers on the two trunk lines of Western India, native merchants, traders, &c. seeing that they have the privilege of advertising in their own language, would find the publication of their announcements at Railway Stations a decided means of extending their business.

Placards, according to the taste of Advertisers, may be printed at the "Bombay Gazette" Press.

Advertisers can select the Stations, on either line, at which they wish their Placards posted, and may advertise for any period that may be agreed on. The charges have been fixed on an extremely moderate scale to encourage Advertisers to make a liberal use of the new means now offered of making announcements known to the public.

Terms of Advertising may be learned on application to the Manager "Bombay Gazette" Press.

"Bombay Gazette" Press, 1869.

FRIDAY, APRIL 15, 1870.

THE absence of His Excellency the Governor of Bombay from the Presidency, during the last fortnight, has caused some surprise, and has been the subject of no small amount of unfavourable comment. It was a matter of public notoriety, not only that the Commander-in-Chief of India would depart last Sunday, and that his successor would arrive on Saturday, but, what was of still greater moment, that the meeting of the Elphinstone Company would take place on a specified day this week. Governorship has its duties as well as its rights; one of the duties is to attend to pressing public affairs, one of the rights is to make excursions into the jungle in search of wild beasts and health. But, it is held, that had His Excellency returned from his shooting foray in time to bid one great public functionary farewell and to receive his successor, he would have shown a keener sense of the proprieties; and, had he been on the spot when the Elphinstone Company met, that he would have displayed a true appreciation of what is due to public and private interests. The ceremonial duties of high station may sometimes be dispensed with—it is often a matter of taste; but considering the very peculiar character of the negotiations with the Elphinstone Company—the long delay, the strange ins and outs, the odd misunderstandings, a certain laxity of method—and the fact that there are very serious questions, or at least a serious question, still unsettled, it was not right for His Excellency to absent himself at such a juncture, especially as he was not called away by any imperious duty. We may be sure that it is not in his power to settle the date of transfer; and that further reference must be made to Olympus. His absence will further protract a decision already too protracted, greatly to the inconvenience of the company, and without any corresponding advantage to the State. And here we may take the freedom to add that now, or on some early day, His Excellency will owe it to himself and to the public to show how much or how little he is responsible, not only for the astounding procrastination which has occurred, but for some of the peculiarities of the bargain. Moreover, we feel bound to say, that there are other questions, on which, in the public estimation, a lack of energy and decision has been shown and continues to be shown by the Government of Bombay. We take no sort of pleasure in expressing these views; it would be far more agreeable to us were we able to report that the Government has the confidence of the public. His Excellency is known to be a man of ability, well-trained, of sound judgment, and sagacious; and it is distasteful to record the opinion that he does not give his abilities and judgment fair play. But we hold that he ought to know what impression prevails as to the present state of his Government, and, in stating that impression candidly, we do him a service, and perform an unpleasing public duty.

LORD MAYO's speech on the Public Works Expenditure and Public Works Budget is a production so unreadable that we cannot suppose it has been extensively read. To those who have laboured through its arid paragraphs the fact will be plainly apparent that here, in the Public Works Department, is seated the cancer of Indian finance. In the sentence "under the head of ordinary we shall have spent in the year which has just come to a close a sum of something like £5,300,000," we read the condemnation of the Government of India. As there were stupendous deficits of past years, we may ask, what right had the Government to spend five millions out of revenue upon public works? Where is the justification for that proceeding? Upon what principle does it rest? Plainly, and by their own showing, the Government of India could not afford to indulge in the "luxuries" represented by the major part of that vast total. And if they could not afford it, if the amount did not represent a surplus over ordinary income—we use the slang of the offices—how is a Government, any more than a private gentleman, justified in spending what it has not got? Lord Mayo makes a merit of reductions ordered in the middle of the year. Large reductions were made to ensure the safety of the financial position. But the obvious commentary is that, although the safety of the position was not ensured even by those reductions, we might fairly have expected that the lesson taught by the panic at Simla would have been taken to heart, and that, at least, financial safety would have been secured by adequate reductions in 1870 71. The lesson has been almost wholly lost on the Government. The adequate reductions have not been made. The manufacture of luxuries is to go on with a vigour scarcely abated The Luxury Department is in full swing. Worse than this; Lord Mayo speaks of his vast expenditure with a complacency that is absolutely appalling. He enumerates without a shade of misgiving, he piles up with a certain prosy exultation, the large sums which are to be spent in the current year. He seems to glory in the exploit of spending £4,300,000 out of revenue on public works. He enters into the items with a gusto that could not be greater were he distributing a real surplus. Not one sentence, not one word, appear expressing or implying a doubt as to the propriety of his course. The arid catalogue of profusion runs on from beginning to end without a phrase to show that the large total does not represent a legitimate expenditure of public money fairly at the disposal of Government. It is this insensibility, this unconscious insensibility, to the bearing of his statement, this strange forgetfulness of the lesson received at Simla, that must fill the public with dismay. Lord Mayo, Viceroy and Minister of Public Works, seems to consider the spending of millions on public works, whether the revenue out of which their cost is to be defrayed exist or not, as a normal proceeding. It is no part of his policy to bring the outlay within the available revenue. It is his policy to spend certain millions coûte qui coûte, and if the millions are not to be found in the treasury to levy from special classes the sums required. This aspect of the case is the worst of all, because it betrays a recklessness of purpose utterly incompatible with sound finance and just government. To gratify his passion for public works he has sanctioned, without the justification of pressing need, an oppressive war-tax in time of profound peace. Do not let us be told that we impugn his motives. It is his insight, his judgment, his moral courage that we impugn. He preaches the gospel of public works expenditure at any cost, even at the cost of being unjust, and that is his condemnation as a statesman.

The future, moulded by such a policy, can but be regarded as gloomy; since there is no security that Sir Richard Temple's estimates for 1870-71 are not as delusive as his estimates for 1869-70; and, as Lord Mayo insists on spending as much as he can get, or as much as his conscience will let him get, on public works, we shall probably receive in April next a notification that there is a deficit, and in the same breath that another one per cent. has been added to the income-tax; while, in due course Lord Mayo will regale himself with another self-complacent essay on the millions to be spent out of revenue in providing employment for the Department of Public Works.

Now that the Government of India have resolved to levy a war Income Tax, and to mulct the few they can reach in upwards of three per cent., we suggest that the Bench of Justices should, as speedily as possible, repeal the Municipal Certificate Tax, which is nothing more than an income tax in disguise. The justice of this step must be apparent to every taxpayer. The octroi duties yield a revenue larger than was expected, and the Municipality can now afford to surrender the local income tax.

We may here ask when the Municipal Commissioner intends to resume the publication of weekly receipts, and whether he will not improve the table by adding a statement of weekly disbursements? At present we are again relapsing into darkness and uncertainty. Do not let the Municipality be quite as bad, in every respect, as the Government of India.

REVIEW.

AN ESSAY ON BENEFICENT GOVERNMENT. By VISHNUBAWA BRAHMACHARI, translated, at the desire of the author, by Captain A. Phelps.

YE who pursue the oftimes barren study of politics, who have endeavoured in vain to obtain a guide through its bewildering mazes, who, disappointed often, still follow after the fleeting phantom and cherish the hope that a clue may be found to what now perplexes you—read the essay on beneficent Government by Vishnubawa Brahmachari. It is a pamphlet of some twenty-seven pages, printed in Bombay, and costing four annas, but it is of world-wide importance. In its pages is described a policy which, if carried out, will produce, the author tells us, such grand result as that "all the worldly evil which flesh is heir to should disappear, and mankind would be in a position to cherish disinterested love towards 'Parmeshwar,' i. e. without expectation of any reward in return. Moreover, they would be enabled fully to understand and digest the principles of the Vedant Shastra, and to secure for their minds that repose and calmness which are attained in a perfect degree by following the practices inculcated in the Yog Shastra; and as a natural consequence the whole of mankind would be prone in a disinterested manner to speak absolute truth and to cherish feelings of friendship, humanity, forgiveness and tranquillity (sic) in their intercourse with one another." These are "brave words," and our readers will doubtless be anxious to learn how such a desirable consummation is to be brought about. They must first however learn from the author in his own words who and what he is.

'MEMOIR OF THE AUTHOR.

I reside in Bombay. I am the author of the "Vedockta Dharma Prakash" and "Bhawartha Sindhoo," and of this Essay on the Right Form of Government. In the years 1856 and 1857, I gave lectures in religion to the public assembled in meeting in Bombay. My name is "Vishnu Bawa Brahmachari. As regards my birth, &c., refer to the 25th chapter of the "Vedockta Dharma Prakash," head "Memoir," which contains all the incidents connected therewith.'

The author, it will be seen, only goes back to his present birth. It would be interesting, however, if he would give some particulars of his former births, and inform us whether he had anything to do with James the first of England and sixth of Scotland, or Fourier, or some pre-existing Tupper, of all of whom he manages to remind us in this wonderful essay.

But as our readers are doubtless eager to know the way to be happy, we proceed to summarize the golden rules given by our author under fifteen heads.

Imprimis the king (for republics are specially discountenanced) is to consider all his subjects as a family of which he is master, and vice versa, the entire governed body constituting the family are to be loyal and obedient. All the land is then to be brought under cultivation, the produce being considered the joint property of all. Manufactories should be established for the common use, and ornaments and tools should be made and placed in depots in the villages to be taken by any one requiring them. All classes should eat the same kind of food, flesh being prohibited, and the food should be taken from a common mess. On reaching the age of five years children are to be made over to the king, who is to get them educated, set to some occupation and married. In case, however, of the matches made thus by authority not suiting, the parties are to be at liberty to dissolve the bond and seek for fitter partners, for, as the author says, "in fact there should be free marriage." We then have prescribed a form of prayer to be used daily by all "Jiwatmas" throughout the king's dominions, and are further informed that "the several debased governing policies which obtain at present on the earth are the offshoots or springs" of a corrupt law made by kings when they "turned plunderers and commenced harassing their subjects" in various ways, but especially by levying taxes.

After certain metaphysical theses, we then come to one describing in glowing terms describing the happiness that will arise from following the above policy when "the desires and affections of everybody would be fully satisfied." Every one would have all he wants. The author then meets the objection that under such circumstances no one would be found to perform menial duties. The king, we are told, when he gets hold of the children at five years of age is to examine "the natural bent and qualifications of each," and "they are to be taught those sciences only for which they may seem fit." Apparently the night man's work is one of these "sciences," for the author goes on to say that "the king should cause some men and women to be taught to clean privies," those only of course who shewed natural aptitude for the occupation. These highly-qualified individuals "when they do their work properly, then only will they have ready boiled food, good clothes and rich ornaments supplied to them" as well as companions of the opposite sexes, and "with these hopes," it is added, "this class of people will certainly do the work of cleaning privies in a proper manner." The occupation however, it should be noted, is not to be necessarily hereditary; they are to be taught whatever they shew most capacity for at the age of five years. When society is thus constituted, "people will begin to consider what good would the proceeds of robbery be"? Who would submit to the envyings and strivings of trade and so on. In short, Astræa would be redux, and "the English, the French, the Russian, the Chinese kings and the American Republicans and their allies should feel that their policy is wicked, and that offences and crimes are consequently rampant among their respective subjects."

Short as the pamphlet is, there is a good deal of repetition in the various theses which, even if other reasons were wanting, would render it unadvisable to go into them seriatim. We will now let the author say his farewell in his own word.

"Let those who are shallow-minded call me the writer of this essay unreasonable, but undoubtedly this should be the form of government .... It is this system alone which will annihilate the offences of infanticide committed for lucre of money; of murdering railway passengers or travellers on foot; of extensive robberies and attendant heinous practices; of scalding, suffocation, &c. of husbands and wives; one poisoning another for getting his or her property, and then he or she again marrying, repeating the process. It is this form of government only which will put a stop to the practice of killing persons by pouring chloroform on their faces. This will alone extirpate the complaints of theft, false plaints maliciously filed in the Courts of Justice; the apprehension of innocent persons as culprits; the various tortures resorted to by the police in arriving at the truth; cases of bribed witnesses swearing falsely; of Judges, influenced by love of money, passing wrong judgments; of doctors receiving money from the enemies of patients and giving the latter poisonous drugs. If you, my readers, will but consider for one moment that the above mentioned offences of the most dreadful kind can only be obliterated from the surface of this world by the form of government propounded in these pages, you will certainly find that those who call me unreasonable are not proper and wise critics. Enough to say that their tongues give vent to mere words without meaning."

This last phrase, it strikes us, is rather a happy description of the author's course throughout his pamphlet.

A DREADFUL tragedy was enacted in Rambaugh Gharry Khatha early yesterday morning (April 7). A peon named Dhoorga Thelly murdered his mistress and child in cold blood, and then put an end to his existence by cutting his throat. Motives of jealousy, it would appear, led the unfortunate man to deprive the woman of life. The spectacle which presented itself yesterday morning when the police broke into the house in which the murders were committed, was a most ghastly and harrowing one. The walls were smeared with blood, and bodies lay weltering in it. A hatchet was the instrument used in decapitating the woman and child; the head of each had evidently been severed from the trunk by one blow. The murderer and suicide was a peon employed in Trinity Church.—Our Paper (Kurrachee.)

THE RE-MARRIAGE QUESTION.—This much-vexed question has, at last, been brought to a conclusion. On Friday last, out of ten members, eight have passed their opinions, (including the opinions of three members of Vishnoo Pundit's party, against re-marriage, and two members passed their opinions in favour of re-marriage. On Sunday the opinions of the eight members who expressed themselves contra to re-marriage were read out to the large assembly, which was gathered at the time, near the residence of Gooroo Sunkurcharry. These proceedings resulted in the confirmation of the excommunication of the following individuals:—Gopalrow Hurry Deshmook, Vishnoo Purushram Pundit, Vishnoo Moreshwer Bhiday, Vishnoo Parushram Runceray, Cristna Shastree Calaykur, Mahadew Govind Kanuray, Janurdhun Suddasew, and Wamonrow Narrainrow Purruspay. It was, however, promised that if these parties would tender an apology they will be re-admitted, but Pandoorung Veniak Kurrunwurkur, and his wife, Venoo, are not to be re-admitted on any account. The remaining one hundred and seventy-one Brahmins, who were likewise excommunicated, and who were in favour of the question, have presented a petition to Gooroo Sunkurcharry, praying to be re-admitted in their caste.—Poona Observer, April 14.

EXHIBITION OF THE PARSEE GIRLS' SCHOOLS.

THE annual meeting for the distribution of prizes to the pupils of the Parsee Girls' Schools took place at the Framjee Cowasjee Institute, on Wednesday last, at half-past 4 P.M. The little children numbered about three hundred, and were attired in gay costumes. Mr. Heerjeebhoy Hormusjee Setna occupied the chair, and Mr. Nowrojee Furdoonjee, the indefatigable secretary of the schools, read the report for the past year, which was most gratifying. The senior pupils of the schools were then examined by Mr. Nanabhoy Rustomjee Ranina, in reading, grammar, geography, &c., and some of the girls also song songs in the Guzrathee language. Their answering was prompt and intelligent, and proved the great care taken by their respective teachers in imparting to their young minds the elements of general knowledge. The chairman next presented prizes, consisting of scholarships, work boxes, books, &c. The proceedings then concluded with a distribution of nose-gays and rose-water. No native ladies were present on this interesting occasion, we believe they had not been invited.

INTERESTING CASE AS TO LIABILITY OF HOTEL-KEEPERS.

HENRY WALKER, LIEUT. R.N., OF H. M. S. SHIP DRYAD vs. JEEVUNJEE HORMUSJEE.

THE action which has been tried by Mr. Spencer, one of the Judges of the Small Cause Court, was to recover Rs. 415-10, for loss sustained by plaintiff whilst staying at the Chowk Hotel, Matheran, of which the defendant is the registered proprieter, by reason of the loss of his box and the contents thereof stolen from his room in that hotel on the night of 17th or morning of [illegible]th March.

Mr. Peile appeared for the plaintiff, Mr. Skipsey for the defendant.

The facts of the case will fully appear from the following judgment, delivered on the 13th instant:—

The plaintiff, a Lieutenant of H. M. S. Dryad, went to Matheran on Saturday the 26th of February last; on his arrival there he took up his lodging at the Chowk Hotel, which is kept by the defendant. He took with him a large tin box or trunk containing wearing apparel and some other articles, and a sum of money in silver. A bed-room was allotted to him in which the trunk was placed. The trunk had a lock, the key of which was kept by the plaintiff—it was opened by him only when he had occasion to go to it. There was no lock to the door of the plaintiff's bed-room; he could not therefore prevent any one from having access to it during his absence. The plaintiff saw the trunk in his bed-room for the last time on the evening of the Thursday following his arrival. The next morning a few minutes after he got out of bed he missed it. There is no doubt that it was stolen in the interval. It was stated that the trunk has since been discovered in the jungles of Matheran broken open, the money and most of the other contents are gone. It was admitted that under these circumstances there being the relation of guest and inn-keeper between plaintiff and defendant, the case of Whateley vs. Pallonjee Pestonjee (3 Bombay H. C. Rep. 137) applied, and that the defendant would be liable to the plaintiff for the loss he has sustained. It was contended, however, on behalf of the defendant, that there was a special contract between the plaintiff and defendant, by which the latter was absolved from his ordinary liability as an inn-keeper. It was contended by Mr. Skipsey that the duties and liabilities of inn-keepers with reference to goods entrusted to them were analogous to those of carriers, that as the latter might be entering into a special contract to limit the responsibility cast upon them by the common law so might inn-keepers—in short, it was argued that an inn-keeper might say to a guest seeking a lodging, "The only terms on which I agree to lodge you are that I shall not be responsible for the safe custody of your property; you must look to that yourself." It was formerly a question of doubt, but it is now settled that a common carrier may by special contract limit his common law responsibility and protect himself from damages, even when caused by his negligence, unless it were occasioned by his wilful misfortune, or by renouncing the character in which he had received the goods. (Austin vs. the Manchester Railway Co., 10. C. B. 454). But no case has been cited, nor have I been able to discover any, in which it has been held that an inn-keeper may limit his liability to the same extent as a common carrier. An inn-keeper may limit his liability by stipulating that he will not be responsible unless his guests chose to have their goods placed in their bed-rooms or some other place selected by him (Richmond vs. Smith, 8 B. & C. p. 9 and Bacon's Abridg: Inns and Inn-keepers), but in no case has it been held that an inn-keeper who is bound to take in all travellers and way-faring persons and to entertain them, if he can accommodate them, for a reasonable compensation, and is at the same time responsible for the goods entrusted to him by those whom he is so bound to entertain, can say, "I am obliged to receive you and your goods, but I will receive you only on the condition that I shall not take charge of your goods." I do not think, however, that this question arises in the present case. I do not think that the terms of the contract have limited the liability of the defendant to the extent contended for. The terms of the contract are contained in a printed notice which was posted on the wall of the bed-room occupied by the plaintiff. The plaintiff admits that he saw and read this notice. I may observe, in passing, that it was stated that this notice was put up by the defendant since the decision of the case of Whateley vs. Pallonjee Pestonjee, and with the object of getting rid of the liability which that case has shown inn-keepers in this country incur. The terms of that notice are as follows: "Lodgers should lock up the rooms when they go out of them. The proprietor is not responsible for the loss of any thing belonging to the lodgers." It was contended by Mr. Skipsey that these were independent terms, and that the first had no connection with the second. I am of opinion that this is not the proper construction to put on the agreement. I think that a lodger on reading the terms of this notice might fairly infer that the inn-keeper meant not to hold himself responsible for loss if the guest did not take the precaution of locking his room, and that this is not an unreasonable construction. Without therefore expressing any opinion whether an inn-keeper can by notice limit his responsibility to the extent contended, it appears to me that as the plaintiff had not the means of locking his room and protecting his property, the defendant has not by his contract absolved himself from his liability for the safe custody of the plaintiff's goods, and that there must be a verdict for the plaintiff. As to the damages, a large portion of the contents of the trunk consisted of wearing apparel—the plaintiff claims not only the cost price of these, but twenty-five per cent. in addition to replace them in India—the wearing apparel was of cotton and had been some time in use. The addition to cost price cannot be allowed, and I think in fairness some deduction ought in such case to be made for deterioration. I allow one-fourth on this account. There will be a verdict for plaintiff for Rs. 325, and costs.

HAS any one ever noticed the curious malformations of language to which the velocipede has given rise? The word itself is not a very classical one; but it may pass. Bicycle is an utter mongrel, though not worse than some other combination of Latin and Greek. But what is to be said of velocipedagogue applied to an instructor in the use of the machine? Nothing, except that it is not quite so bad as velocenærum, a place for velocipede riding; and that again is beaten out of the field by bicyclops, a word which is used (let us hope in fun) by the correct and precise Pall Mall Gazette. Civilization is fertile in odd compounds. People have recently taken to talking of gasaliers, which we suppose they think is a word formed on the analogy of chandelier. But as the latter is derived from chandelle, gaselier must clearly be connected with gazelle.—Pioneer.

BOMBAY RECLAMATION COMPANY.

A general meeting of the shareholders of the Bombay Reclamation Company was held in the office of the company on Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of giving their opinion as to the disposal of the remaining assets, now that the supreme Government have confirmed the proposal of the local Government to take over the Malabar Hill and Chowpatty property of the company. Mr. J. G. Smith, one of the liquidators, presided.

The Chairman said the shareholders would remember tha[illegible]e annual meeting held in February a wish was expressed by some of the shareholders that they should be called together as soon as the liquidators heard whether the supreme Government had agreed to the proposal by the local Government for taking over the Malabar Hill and Chowpatty property of the company and extinguishing the debts. The assent of the supreme Government had now been received, and accordingly the shareholders had been convened, in order that they might give their opinion as to the disposal of the remaining assets of the company. The assets now consisted of what were mentioned in the annual report, with the exception of the Malabar Hill property and Chowpatty property which had been taken over by Government, and the liquidators thought these assets should now be sold off and the winding-up of the company completed. The liquidators would have sold off the remaining assets—the land at Andaree, Bates Hill and Santa Cruz, and a quantity of plant—but some of the shareholders most largely interested in the company had informed them that they wished to form a new company for the purpose of taking over the Colaba property and the remaining assets and liabilities of the present company. Therefore the liquidators had postponed the sale in the meantime, and what they now wished for was an expression of opinion as to whether it was more desirable to sell off the assets, or to form a new company for the purpose of taking over the Colaba property and the remaining assets of the present company.

Mr. Ardaseer Hormusjee Wadia said it would be desirable for the shareholders to ascertain the value of the assets and also to determine whether it would be for their interests to sell off at any cost, or to form a new company. The present company's liquidation could be finished by either of these methods.

Mr. Cleveland, solicitor, said he went down the other day to look at the property, and it had seemed to him on doing so that it was perfectly plain it could not be for the interest of the owners to allow it to remain in its present state. The ground was almost vacant; there were a few vacant huts upon it that were a disgrace to the place; it was surrounded on all sides by stores of coal and hay, and yet there was this valuable ground, or what might be valuable ground, lying waste, desolate and unprofitable. He did not know what the offers received by the liquidators were, but he apprehended they amounted to some lakhs of rupees and, therefore, unless the property was yielding an income sufficient to pay the interest of the amount of the offer, he for one would say it had better be sold. And when no one was coming forward to purchase it, the shareholders should consider what was the best thing to be done in order to make the property yield something. An immense amount of money had been spent but there were no returns, and unless some steps were taken there would never be any returns at all. He knew not whether there was ground for the storing of cotton or other produce, but he thought the shareholders should take the best opinion on the subject and ascertain what was the best way to utilize the ground, and he would suggest that a committee of their number should be appointed. Then these gentlemen could make enquiry into the prospects that could be seen for making this ground useful, and come before a future meeting and state what their opinion was,—whether anything should be done to make the land useful, or if it should be allowed to lie waste, and wait till a better offer came. Of course if this suggestion of his were carried, it would be necessary to engage an engineer. He for one would have the best engineer they could get, pay him for his services and so get a report worth something; if they did not get such advice the report would be worth nothing. He would suggest that the meeting should authorize the committee to engage the services of a thoroughly competent engineer and obtain his report, and then they could see what should be done. It seemed to him the shareholders now at the meeting were entirely in the dark as to what the prospects of the company were; and he proposed that a committee should be appointed for the purpose of enquiring and reporting on the best mode of dealing with the land at Colaba.

Mr. Ardaseer remarked that there were other lands belonging to the company, and though they might not be of much value he thought the committee might report on these also.

Mr. Cleveland—The liquidators probably don't want our advice on that point.

The Chairman—We shall be glad to get an expression of the views of the shareholders as to all the assets.

Mr. Cleveland—Then we might appoint the committee to consider the whole property of the company.

Mr. Adaseer remarked that the company had several hundreds of waggons, an iron house and some other plant.

The Chairman said the liquidators would not have the least objection to a report as to all the property—in fact they would rather prefer such a report and have the responsibility taken off their shoulders. They wished to have the liquidation closed without any further delay and could not spend any money on any report as to improvement of the property. The affairs must be wound up either by a sale of the assets or by transferring them to a new company, but the liquidators had not taken any offers since February last as the shareholders at the meeting then had expressed a desire to have another meeting before the assets were disposed of.

Mr. Mooteram Buggoobhoy asked whether the liquidators had not received any offers since last meeting?

The Chairman replied that they had not, as the shareholders had wished to have a meeting first.

Mr. Mooteeram—Have you got any offers from which the value of the property could be gathered? The shareholders are quite in the dark as to the value; until they know that, they can do nothing.

Mr. Chubildass thought that, consequent on the opening of the Suez Canal and of the through railway communication, the Commerce of Bombay would greatly increase, and so the value of the land at Colaba would rise. It was his opinion therefore that the land at Colaba should not be sold but that it should be transferred to a new company in which shareholders of the present one should have the preference over outsiders.

Mr. Cleveland then formally proposed the following resolution—"That a committee be appointed, consisting of the undermentioned gentlemen, for the purpose of making enquiries into and reporting what in their opinion is the best mode of dealing with the company's land at Colaba and their other property—Messrs. Ardaseer Hormusjee Wadia, Chubildass Purmanundass, Dhurmsey Poonjabhoy and H. Cleveland."

Mr. Chubildass seconded this resolution and it was unanimously passed.

Mr. Cleveland then said he thought it was necessary that some provision should be made for paying the fee of a competent engineer for surveying the property and making a report on any scheme he might suggest. The best way to do that would be for the gentlemen then present to put their names to a paper, agreeing to subscribe according to the number of shares held by each.

Mr. Ardaseer supposed even the shareholders present could make up Rs. 200 or Rs. 300 for the fee.

Mr. Cleveland said that would not do: he had spoken to several on the subject, and believed Rs. 1,000 would be required to obtain a good report.

Mr. Ardaseer—And who is to pay that?

The Chairman—The liquidators can't pay it.

Mr. Ardaseer—And yet there have been lakhs upon lakhs, aye crores, spent on the company, and now we can't get Rs. 1,000 even when it is for the benefit of the shareholders. (This remark elicited a laugh,—possibly it was a sigh.)

The Chairman—It has yet to be proved it is for the benefit of the company.

Mr. Ardaseer—Surely it is for the benefit of the assets.

Mr. Mooteram—It ought to be paid out of this company, for the new one will reap the benefit.

Mr. Cleveland—But I don't think you can proceed upon that.

Mr. Ardaseer—Well, it wouldn't cost the whole of us here many rupees each.

Mr. Mooteram—And others who are not present may pay when they see it is for their advantage.

Mr. Cleveland—Well, I never found them pay much after anything had been done. (A laugh.) Mr. Cleveland afterwards drew up and proposed the following resolution:—"That the committee are hereby empowered to engage the services of a competent engineer to aid them in making their report, and for this purpose to expend not more than Rs. 1,000."

This was seconded by Mr. Mooteram and unanimously passed.

In the course of some further conversation as to where the money was to come from,

Mr. Cleveland said he knew, at any rate, that he would not be a party to the incurring of any expense by the committee until the money was guaranteed! It was the business of the shareholders to provide the money, and if they thought their property was to be made valuable by fairies [Mr. Langley—Coolies rather, (a laugh)], they might find that agency would fail. At all events they need not think he was to commit himself, or that the members of the committee would pay Rs. 1,000 for the benefit of the shareholders. However, he afterwards remarked, he was not sure but that should the shareholders ask the liquidators in a formal way to obtain the report, these gentlemen might be entitled to pay the fees from the funds of the company.

The Chairman remarked that the liquidators knew that nothing could be got out of the property at Colaba until a deal of money was spent upon it, and they were not to proceed with the improvements.

Mr. Cleveland—But if the liquidators can't sell the property, they may ascertain what is best to be done with it.

Mr. Langley, solicitor, said that this matter could not be disposed of at the present meeting, but the shareholders might have a meeting to consider it, and then ask the liquidators to pay an engineer's fee for a report. Certainly he, as legal adviser, could not recommend the liquidators at present to spend that money for the mere outside purpose of ascertaining the value of the land.

After some further remarks it was, on the motion of Mr. Cursetjee Sorabjee, agreed that the question of the fee should be left over to an adjourned meeting to be called a month thereafter, and that the liquidators should be asked, in the meantime, to invite tenders for the purchase of the land at Colaba. It was remarked by Mr. Cleveland that the committee could by themselves proceed, meantime, with their enquiries and report to the adjourned meeting.

The meeting then separated.

FREE GENERAL ASSEMBLY'S INSTITUTION.

The annual exhibition of the Free General Assembly's Institution was held on Wednesday afternoon in the hall of the institution, Khetwady, and was attended by several ladies and gentlemen. Mr. N. Spencer occupied the chair.

The following is the annual report of the institution, which was read and circulated:—"Several changes have occurred recently in the missionary staff connected with this institution. Dr. Wilson had, on the invitation of the Free Church of Scotland, gone to Europe, with the prospect of presiding as moderator in the approaching General Assembly at Edinburgh. The Rev. J. W. Gardner, who was with us for some months, has gone to resume his own duties at Poona. The Rev. J. Small has left Poona for a time to aid us here. The Rev. W. Stephen, who entered on mission work in India towards the close of the year, is a permanent addition to the force in Bombay. We have also now, as superintendent of the school department of the institution, Mr. Ganpatrao Raghunath, a member of the Christian Church, and an old pupil of the institution.

"In the last University examination Mr. Anandrao Sakharam Barve, a student in the college department, took the degree of B.A. In the official list of passed men in the matriculation examination, four appear as having gone up from our candidate class, namely—Pascoal Manoel DaSilva, John Thomas DeCunha, Bellarmino Lobo, Harirai Lakshminarayan Majmundar. DeCunha and Lobo have entered the Grant Medical College.

"In the college department the studies are those prescribed by the University. In the candidate class the students read the Bible and Cowper's Poems in addition to the studies required in preparation for the matriculation examination.

"In the school department the studies are as follows:—

Society), Arnold's Grammar, Morell's Analysis, Marathi Grammar, Arithmetic, Euclid (Books I. and II.), Algebra, Bible, the Gospels and Acts of the Apostles.

"Second Class. (Mr. Hari Mahadeva).—Lamb's Tales, Goldsmith's Deserted Village, C. V. Society's Manual of Grammar, Curtis's History of England, Geography, Arithmetic, Euclid, Algebra (Elementary), Bible, Gospels of Luke and John.

(Mr. Parshuram Narayen Paranjape and Mr. Dvarakanatha Bhaskharaji Chandhari).—Marathi Translation, Fifth Book Laghu Vyakarana. (Mr. John Arratoon).—Genesis, Matthew, Catechism.

"In the fourth, fifth, and sixth classes the studies are introductory to those already mentioned, and need not be specified."

The prizes having been all presented,

The Chairman said it was not possible in the short time to which they were obliged to confine the meeting to examine the pupils at all effectually, and they were obliged to hurry over the junior classes particularly; but these junior pupils, he was informed, had been in attendance only for a few months, so that very little could be expected from them. He hoped these pupils would continue to attend, and that their acquirements in due time would equal those of the higher classes. It was now some years since he had been present on a similar occasion to this, owing to his having been away from Bombay for a time; but so far as he could make a comparison between what he saw on former occasions and what he had seen on this occasion, he thought the school had kept up its character and was quite equal to what it was in former years. And there was one thing that was particularly gratifying both to the missionaries under whose care the school was and to those who wished well to it,—and that was that one of their former pupils, Mr. Ganpatrao Raghunath, was now in charge of the institution as the principal teacher, and he appeared to do his duty both with very great zeal and intelligence and efficiency, and he was sure Mr. Ganpatrao would continue to do his best for those who studied under him. Mr. Ganpatrao had availed himself of the knowledge given in these schools, not only of the secular knowledge, but also of the religious education which he had received here, to look into the claims of Christianity, and had adopted the Christian religion—had become a convert and been baptised. They all knew that the main object of this school was not merely to enlarge the minds of the pupils and to give them the means to acquire knowledge which would be useful to them in after-life, but more especially to give them that knowledge which would lead them to embrace that religion which was truth, which would enable them to distinguish between truth and error. That it was which the missionaries had mainly in view. Addressing more particularly the children, he continued—The missionaries are not trying to educate you children merely that you may earn a living here, but that you may have that knowledge which will prepare you for a blessed hereafter, and it is to be hoped that you will avail yourselves of that, because there is a great responsibility now laid upon you. You are not, as many of your countrymen were some years ago, without opportunities of obtaining Christian instruction. You have now the Bible open before you, and can obtain as much knowledge of the claims of the Bible to be a divine revelation as any children born in what are called Christian lands. I can only say that I have been gratified to-day, and I hope all present have also been pleased, in so far as we have been able to obtain a knowledge of your qualifications. (Loud applause from the pupils.)

Rev. R. Stothart said he was sure they would all join with him in giving a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Spencer for presiding on this occasion. (Loud applause.)

The benediction was then pronounced, and the meeting separated.

THE LATE RAJAH OF KUPPOORTHULLAH.

The telegraph has confirmed our worst apprehensions (writes the Pioneer) arising out of the news previously received with regard to His Highness the Rajah of Kuppoorthullah, and the intelligence of his death will be received with general regret. One of a family that has ever been loyal to British rule,—to which loyalty alone his grandfather owed his escape from the clean sweep of the Punjab chieftains made by Runjeet Singh,—in his devotion to us during the troubles of 1857 he outshone them all. And though he has been more recently seen in an attitude of opposition to the Government of this country, he strove with them only in the bloodless arena of the Council Chamber, and, backed by the sincere convictions of many wise and unprejudiced men among our own countrymen, fought unflinchingly till he won at last. Into his private character this is not the time or place to enter too minutely. He was not always well surrounded; his moral instincts were unconfirmed by any settled religious convictions, and in his good nature he was pliant to a fault. But he was intelligent and enlightened; believed in Englishmen with a thoroughness utterly free from pretence; was benevolent; given to hospitality; and in demeanour a courteous, kindly, well-bred gentleman. Taken all in all there is perhaps hardly one among our Native Chiefs besides who can fill the vacant place. It is not difficult to imagine that much capital will be made out of the story of his death by the "spiritual advisers" of the nation, nor that it may add something to the mysterious terrors of the "black water" in the hands of meditating voyagers. But the simple truth is, that the Rajah of Kuppoorthullah had long been in indifferent health; was absolutely ill ere he left these provinces; and although it is conceivable that he embarked upon his novel journey with some feelings of apprehension, the seeds of disease were deep sown in his constitution before he ever seriously contemplated it.

A DREAM.

We dreamt—"For the future telegrams will come from Bombay by post." A change came o'er the spirit of our dream, and we dreamt as follows:—"Owing to our patent inability to keep faith with the public, in fact to be of any use, we beg to state for the information of our customers that we have engaged the services of a trustworthy (though aged) dak runner (female), who will for the future carry at the top of her speed, and in a closed basket, all telegrams of importance between Bombay and Allahabad. As being calculated to increase her speed; we have hired (at a great expenditure of coolies and cash) an able-bodied tiger to pursue her en route. N. B.—We should advise a second runner being kept in readiness at Allahabad, whence, if the aforesaid should not be forthcoming, he should be despatched to see what the aforesaid can be about. N. H. B. Mr. Morris must not be allowed to shoot our tiger." We awoke, and being still awake, offer the above suggestions to the Telegraph authorities at Bombay and Allahabad at a charge of one rupee for every ten words. If, as is not unlikely, they should object to the high charge, we will give them gratis, provided the aforesaid authorities will give a satisfactory answer to the following question:—Why was a telegram despatched from Bombay at 7-30 of the evening of the 5th, sixty-one hours in getting to our office in Allahabad?—Pioneer.

ACTION FOR BALANCE OF AN ACCOUNT.

Ahmedbhai Habibbhai vs. Parshotum Walabh.

The Hon'ble Sir Charles Sargent delivered judgment in this case on Friday. He said the plaintiff in this case sought to recover from the defendant a sum of Rs. 3,617 for balance of an account. The question was, whether 300 bags of betel nuts in the possession of the plaintiff were held by him as a deposit or whether the defendants sold them to plaintiff. (The defendant asserts sale, while plaintiff asserts deposit.) The written document put in by defendant was surrounded by doubt. The onus lay upon the defendant to prove the sale, and the whole transaction rested on a conversation the defendant failed to establish. The Court therefore came to a conclusion in favour of the plaintiff. The transaction seemed doubtful. But he (the judge) had one instance before him in which both parties had written, and there was also verbal evidence. In the present case the plaintiff had only verbal evidence; the defendant had both; because the defendant had entered the transaction as a sale in his books—and the plaintiff had not made entry for deposit or sale. He thought the plaintiff had no intention in withholding the entry from his book, if he had at the time treated it as an actual purchase. The defendant's entry was not made in the manner that would lead one to assist him for the non-entry of the plaintiff. The page on which the defendant's entry was made was not in a satisfactory state, and that unfortunate circumstance was quite sufficient to give way to the non-entry in the plaintiff's book, which had been sufficiently explained. The verbal evidence could not assist the defendant in holding that the plaintiff accepted the goods, as alleged in the defendant's written statement. The price was the highest one, as the defendant's book itself shows in the instance of a sale to one Mahomed Dama. It was contended by Mr. Anstey that that was why the plaintiff did not ask for other goods. But the Court did not think that argument could assist him much, as it was optional to the creditor to accept any thing he liked. He did not think it necessary to go into the branch of the evidence deposed by mehtas; on both sides there was inconsistency as to the evidence of setting and adjusting tare. The Court could not for a moment presume that Ahmedbhai, a respectable merchant, would have thought at the very moment to commit a fraud; that he told his mehta not to make an entry in his books if it was a sale. Decree was therefore passed against the defendant with costs.

Mr. Anstey—The costs ought to be up to the part-payment in Court.

Mr. McCulloch, for plaintiff—I contend that there was not a single voucher or misconduct of the plaintiff which could punish him for costs; on the contrary, the defendant deserves punishment for his vexatious defence. If the Court holds otherwise, it will be a rule that the defendants are not liable to pay costs if they are advised by an eminent counsel that they have a reasonable defence, and that will be against the practice and will of this Court that the losing party should pay costs.

Mr. Anstey—Here both parties assert differently, the plaintiff deposit, and the defendant sale; both facts to prove—and the plaintiff gets a formal decree.

The Court decided against the defendant, and awarded costs.

BOMBAY CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

Third Day: Wednesday, 13th April.

(Before the Hon'ble Sir Charles Sargent.)

CHARGE OF MURDER.

Shaik Ebram Meena Gazee was charged before a special jury with having, on 3rd February, murdered a young girl named Fatima.

The Advocate General conducted the prosecution; Mr. Taylor appeared for the prisoner.

The Advocate General, in opening the case, said the prisoner was charged with the murder of a little girl named Fatima, under the age of two years. The facts of the case, though they would be brought before the jury by numerous witnesses, were in themselves simple. It appeared that on the night of Thursday, 3rd February last, prisoner was in the house of an acquaintance named Cassum; a marriage procession was going along the street, and the prisoner took Cassum's little girl Fatima to see the procession. He took her out into the street, and it would be proved to them that he bought a small quantity of sweetmeat which he gave to her. It would also be proved to them that prisoner was seen with this child in the street near the gulley in which the body was found with its throat cut. Prisoner would thus be shown to have had the child in his company till within a short time before she was discovered dead. Now, this was one of the circumstances which they would have to consider when they discussed the question as to whether or not the prisoner was the person who committed the murder. Of the fact of the murder there could be no doubt, and the first point they would have brought before them was that the prisoner took the child from the father's house, and was seen in its company till a short time before it was found dead. Another point they would have proved to them was that when the child left her father's house she had upon her person a number of small ornaments, not of any large value, amounting altogether in value to about Rs. 20. Among these were two neck ornaments, one a chain with an ornament in the shape of a crescent hanging from it, and another named a haslee. When the body of the child was found these two ornaments were missing. Now, the medical evidence would prove beyond a doubt that the death of the child was caused by the wounds which were found upon it, and that the principal wound was the severance of the throat; and it would not be necessary to do more than state to them that it was perfectly impossible that a child of that tender age could have cut its own throat, and that the death of the child must have been caused by some other person. Now, in the course of the evening when the body of the child was found prisoner went to the house of a woman of his acquaintance and said he was going to sleep there. At that time he had on various articles of clothing, and the woman would state to the jury that when he came in she noticed what appeared to her to be marks of blood upon his shirt. He told her he had been engaged in a quarrel with some Seedees, and mentioned the name of this child's father as one of the persons with whom he had been quarrelling; and the woman stated before the magistrate that her reason for not making particular enquiries about the marks of blood on the prisoner's shirt was that she supposed it likely that these stains had been occasioned by the blood which flowed from him in the course of the beating which he received. The woman would state to them that on the following morning the prisoner showed her a couple of silver ornaments, one a haslee and the other a chain with a crescent pendant from it, which correspond with the ornaments which were on the person of the child, and asked her to pledge them. She declined to do so, and nothing further was done with regard to them on that occasion. It would also be proved to them that the prisoner, after leaving the house of this woman, betook himself on board one of the P. & O. Co.'s ships in the harbour, the Behar, which was bound for China, and concealed himself in the forecastle, and after the regular crew had been mustered one of the seamen told the Parsee who had put the crew on board that there was a man in the forecastle who did not belong to the crew. The Parsee went to the forecastle and found the prisoner lying covered up, and seeing he was not one of the crew sent him on shore. As soon as he came on shore, the police, who had been looking for him in consequence of his having been the last person seen in company with the child, apprehended him. When he was apprehended he had upon him the same shirt he had worn on the night he was at the house of the woman to whom he had offered the silver ornaments to be pledged, and that shirt was taken possession of by the police and the stains submitted to analysis by Dr. Lyon, who would tell them that these were stains from the blood of some mammalian animal, and such as would be caused by the blood of a child or human being. After the prisoner was apprehended he was taken to Mr. Souter, Commissioner of Police, and then made a statement which would be laid before the jury; and that statement, he thought, coupled with the circumstances he had mentioned, would be sufficient to convict the prisoner. Before they extended the benefit of a doubt to any prisoner, a jury must be satisfied that it was a reasonable doubt, and if upon the whole circumstances of the case they could come to no other conclusion than that the prisoner was the person by whom the murder was committed, in spite of the witnesses not being eye-witnesses of the deed, but merely on evidence connected with the facts of the case, it would be their duty to find the prisoner guilty.

The prisoner was defended by Mr. Taylor, but he declined to leave his case in the hands of the learned counsel, who accordingly left the Court.

After the examination of the witnesses for the prosecution, His Lordship called upon the accused to say whether he had anything to say in defence, or intended to call any witnesses. The accused made a rambling statement, the purport of which was that Khan Bahadoor Acbar Ally asked him to pay Rs. 500 on condition that he would let him off, but on his (the prisoner's) refusing to pay that sum, he was beaten, and consequently he confessed the offence with which he stood charged. He had two witnesses to call, who would prove that he was beaten by Acbar Ally, but as they were not before the Court, he requested His Lordship to adjourn the case till to-morrow. This, however, was not done, but His Lordship addressed the jury.

At a quarter past four the jury retired to consider their verdict but they came into Court several times stating that they could not agree. At half past nine the Judge sent for them and they were then 9 to 3 for conviction. They stated there was no chance of their coming to a unanimous verdict and so His Lordship discharged them.

The prisoner will probably be tried before another jury at these Sessions.

Third Day, Thursday.

Causing Death.—A woman named Changee and a man named Mahadoo Ramjee were placed at the bar, the former charged with causing the death of a woman named Parbuttee by doing an act with the intention to cause Parbuttee to miscarry, she being with child.

Mr. Farran conducted the prosecution.

Both prisoners were convicted and sent to prison for eighteen months.

Theft.—Rutna Narayen and Runchord Cullian were found guilty of stealing some ornaments. Rutna was sent to prison for eighteen months, his companion for two years.

Discharged.—Gopal Narayen was charged with committing an unnatural offence but the jury found him not guilty.

The Sessions were then adjourned until Monday.

MASTER AND SERVANT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

Sir,—For the benefit of your correspondent "Aggrieved" in issue of the 6th inst., I would append a few rules to secure the services of a household servant for a lengthened period. 1st. He should always have on hand a good stock of tea, sugar, oil, and other such household necessaries as these people have a weakness for. 2nd. He must leave these in the sole charge of his servants, nor attempt to grumble when they appear to want renewing too often, nor must he grumble when the charges made by the cook in his bazaar account are a little higher than the Sahib, or Mem Sahib know they could have procured them for, themselves. 3rd. He must not hold his servants responsible for broken glass, china, &c., nor require them to make good any cooking utensils, cutlery, spoons, &c., that he may have given over to their special charge. 4th. He must give them leave whenever and as often as they require it, and be satisfied with any kind of substitute they produce. 5th. If he adopts the system of giving the cook a certain sum in advance to carry on the month's bazaar expenses, he must not be too inquisitive as to whether all the articles have really been supplied which are on the long list usually read over by cook or butler on settling day.

An experience of five years' residence in India has convinced me that a strict adherence to these rules will secure even the worst-tempered master a good servant for a lengthened period, he will get his name up as an "atcha sahib," and the new servants who make a point of enquiring so particularly into the character of their new master will be at once at their ease, and serve him with a will.

But "Aggrieved" will perhaps say I cannot do this, I am a poor man, and claim a right to have a just control over my own stores, and cannot afford to be swindled in such a bare-faced manner as I would be if I took your advice. Then I say there is no help for you under the present state of the law between master and man. But may I ask you, Mr. Editor, is this as it should be? Most Europeans in India sign an agreement by which certain notice must be given on either side before the same can terminate, and why should a native domestic be allowed to decamp without a moment's notice during the night; send the master to office without breakfast; compel madam to tuck up her sleeves and toil in a cook-house, perhaps for two or three days together, under all the disadvantages such a situation entails, until a substitute is obtained; in a word, why should not the master have the same control over his domestic servant that his own employer has over him?

If he is a rich man he can afford to act in accordance with the rules laid down, but if a poor man, must abide by the law as it stands. As a poor man he comes here to gain a competence for his old age, and naturally considers that when he has paid his servant the monthly amount agreed upon, he has fairly done his duty to the latter, and it is only right that the Government of India should, as otherwise Governments do, pass a law to compel every servant to give reasonable notice before quitting his employ.

The most cruel instances that could be quoted in condemnation of the law as it stands, are those where wet-nurses engaged for a period to nurse a child on certain terms continue to exact increase of pay till the same becomes too exorbitant to comply with on principle, on which occasion they will leave at once. And the law protects them—such a law may be generous to the native, but it is neither generous nor just to the European.

As a poor man I have suffered by the law as it stands in this respect, and trust that you, Mr. Editor, will advocate in your columns the necessary alteration of the law, so that the poor man may have a shade of that justice to which he is entitled, but which the rich show by their avathy and willingness to be victimised that they can afford to dispense with.

In these times of heavy taxation, brought on by no fault of their own, this is not too much to ask, and it is to be hoped that the Government will get up at once a code of rules between master and man, to insure that justice to the poor, in this respect; to which they are duly entitled.—Yours, &c., JUNGLE-WALLAH.

AN IMPERTINENT ENQUIRY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

Sir,—Can you give any information to the readers of your valuable paper who, like myself, feel a warm interest in the matter, as to whether or no it is true that Messrs. Crawford and Aitken have adopted Mr. Manisty's suggestion, and have agreed to meet and settle their differences in the open space adjoining Rotten Row at 6 o'clock on Monday morning next? It is said that Mr. Dossabhoy Framjee will second the Commissioner and Mr. Nowrojee Furdoonjee will do the needful for the Engineer. Sir Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy has kindly consented to be umpire. Both gentlemen are reported to be in active training. The betting at the Clubs last night was 5 to 4 on Crawford, it being generally supposed that Aitken is too pluffy to fight well. If you can give any further information about the matter, pray do so, for if it comes off it certainly will be a jolly LARK.

KATTYAWAR.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

RAJCOTE, 9th April.

The weather is unusually hot for this season of the year, the thermometer in the shade at noon being 94°; the state of public health, however, is good.

The Political Agent, Colonel Anderson, will proceed to England on furlough for six months in June next. It is not yet known who will act for him, the probabilities are in favour of Major Barton, Political Agent in Rewa Kanta.

Captain Goodfellow has been appointed Superintendent of the Gondul and Rajcote States, and Mr. Kursundass Muljee, Deputy Superintendent of Rajcote, will be placed in independent charge of Limree. The appointments of Deputy Superintendents at Gondul and Rajcote have not yet been made, and it is to be hoped none but competent and deserving men will be nominated. I hear there are a host of applicants to select from.

The first Criminal Sessions for this year have terminated. There were three cases only on the calendar, in all of which the prisoners having admitted their guilt, the labours of the Court were light.

The reputed son of the Jam of Nowanuggur, known as Kalooba, and whom the Jam and his myrmidons are making strenuous efforts to have recognized as heir apparent to the State, will be married some time next week to the daughter of a Rajpoot Gerassie. The nuptial arrangements will be on a grand scale, and the expenditure lavish. I hear it said that the Political Agent has, during the last month, submitted a report to Government on behalf of Kalooba's recognition as heir apparent, but it remains to be seen what the result will be. Kalooba is an illegitimate child by a Mahomedan female of low repute. We sometimes hear of very strange things happening, and it may not be a matter for wonder if the attempts of the Jam succeed.

The Agency Dufterdar, Baprobhai Dyashunker, will retire on a pension on 1st proximo, and it is believed will be succeeded by Dhooleerai Rugoonathrai, a competent and respectable man, well suited for the appointment.

INDIAN ITEMS.

Great dissatisfaction is, we understand, being felt by the Mahomedan community in consequence of the late order of Sir Barnes Peacock abolishing all the Mahomedan holidays previously in force in the High Court. This dissatisfaction naturally finds vent on an occasion like the present when, for the first time since its constitution, the Court has compelled its Mussulman servants to work during the Mohurrum. The total number of Mahomedan holidays allowed was, we believe, twelve, a trifle compared with the indulgence still conceded in this matter to Hindoos.—Calcutta Examiner.

A French Journal in Madras.—We learn that an enterprizing publisher in Madras intends starting a French journal in this city, to be published once a week. As the regulations of the French Colonial Government prohibit the publication of any journal not connected with the ruling power, the existence of an independent periodical in any of the French settlements would be an impossibility. Hence, we understand, the origin of the present intention. We further learn that a good number of subscribers have promised to come forward and give the periodical a fair start.—Madras Athenæum.

A number of gentlemen assembled at Calcutta on the 8th instant, at the Chamber of Commerce, to take into consideration what measures should be adopted by the public with regard to the late scheme of taxation. All classes of the community, mercantile, landholders, trading, and native, were well represented, and it was unanimously determined that a memorial should be drawn up requesting the Sheriff to call a public meeting at an early date with a view to determine what shape the public protest, against Sir Richard Temple's income-tax, should take. A committee to arrange the necessary preliminaries was formed.—Calcutta Examiner.

The frequent abuses which have occurred from the overcrowding, under-feeding, and general bad treatment of native travellers by sea has culminated in an Act (XII. of 1870) for the regulation of ships and steam-vessels intended for the conveyance of native passengers. By this Act it is provided that no such ship may sail or take passengers except from certain fixed ports, and even then not until a certificate has been granted for so doing; any omission on these points will be punished by heavy fines. Each vessel is to be inspected before sailing, in order to ensure the allowance to each passenger of 72 cubic feet of space between decks, and 4 superficial feet on the upper deck, five gallons of sweet water per week and seven pounds of bread stuff; and all vessels carrying more than thirty natives must touch at Aden under a penalty of Rs. 2,000 to be inspected a second time. Native travellers by railway will certainly envy their brethren travelling by sea.—Pioneer.

Colonel Meade, the Chief Commissioner of Mysore, remarked the other day relative to the High School of Bangalore that, "There is a growing tendency amongst the native youth who have enjoyed the inestimable advantage of English instruction, to regard themselves as being thereby so raised above their fellows, that they are entitled to look for employment in the public service of a much higher and better remunerative character than it is possible to provide for them and to become discontented and dissatisfied if their expectations on this head are not fulfilled. Now feelings and expectations of this nature are much to be deprecated. The public employment of a higher class available is wholly insufficient to provide for the large number of native youths who now qualify more or less in the English language, and while some few may from special causes, get such employment, the great majority must be content at first with minor situations, from which however they will rise to higher posts in due time, if they conduct themselves properly, and so as to merit advancement."

ALLAHABAD TO BOMBAY.

There are so many interested in the condition, from the traveller's point of view, of the through line of railway to Bombay, that we make no apology (says the Pioneer) for publishing in this place the recent experiences of a correspondent homeward-bound. Our correspondent, we observe, praises the carriages on the Bombay line at the expense of those on the East Indian. When, like ourselves, he has travelled also by one of those recently converted for special use on the long through journey, he will find that the latter company too have been equal to the occasion and themselves. We subjoin the letter:—

"Byculla.—I date this from Byculla and not Bombay, because practically, for travellers from the North-West, this latter place, notwithstanding the popular prejudice to the contrary, has no existence. It is well that those of your readers who contemplate a visit to the Western capital should know this, otherwise they may suffer all the inconvenience which has so nearly disturbed the equanimity of your sweet-tempered correspondent. It is true that at Allahabad or Jubbulpore your carriage-ticket is given you for Bombay, but woe to you if your luggage receipt and boxes be not marked Byculla. You get out of course at Byculla, for all the hotels are there; but your luggage doesn't; that must be carried some miles further on to Bombay proper, or rather to Boree Bunder, which the sagacious railway people have ruled to be more peculiarly Bombay than Byculla. As the mail train only just gives you time to allow you to scrape off some of the upper dirt which the railway journey has conferred upon you before dinner, you present yourself at the table d'hote (where are sure to be some dozen ladies in full dinner dress) in the travel-stained things you hoped never to have worn or seen again. Well, it does not much matter: you get your boxes next morning and your indignation has passed somehow with the night.

"My principal motive, however, for writing is to declare the present state of the direct railway from Jubbulpore to Bhosawul. In ten days or a fortnight the whole line from Allahabad to Bombay will be as continuous and uninterrupted as the East Indian Railway is at present. Even now, a traveller is not absolutely obliged to get out of his carriage at any single point between Jubbulpore and Bombay. Nevertheless at one point, viz., the "diversion" round the Sukkur viaduct, you are advised by the guard to get out, and most passengers do. There is here a gap of about 300 yards, consisting of an incline of 1 in 16 down to the bed of the Sukkur, and a similar ascent on the other side. The engine is detached; the train is broken up into groups of two or three carriages which are drawn by hand to the brink of the slope down which they are allowed to rush at their own sweet will: and they do rush with such velocity that their momentum carries them up the opposite steep, just like the Montagnes Russes in the Bois de Boulogne. Lady passengers descend and mount in the same way by the same route only on trollies, while the men walk, or bravely or lazily remain (as they may with perfect safety do) in their original railway carriages. With this exception the whole journey is quite simple and smooth. The line is in very good order; the carriages out of all sight more comfortable than those on the East Indian; and the charges for refreshment more reasonable. On the whole I approve of the G. I. P."

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The changes of temperature and weather frequently upset persons who are most cautious of their health, and most particular in their diets. These corrective, purifying, and gentle aperient Pills are the best remedy for all defective actions of the digestive organs; they augment the appetite, strengthen the stomach, correct biliousness, and carry off all that is noxious from the system. Holloway's Pills are composed of rare balsams, unmixed with baser matter, and on that account are peculiarly well adapted for the young, delicate, and aged. As this peerless medicine has gained fame in the past, so will it preserve it in the future by its renovating and invigorating qualities, and its incapability of doing harm.

SACCHARO-CHIRETTINE.

The active principal of the Herb CHIRETTA, preserved by combination with sugar.

MESSRS. D. S. KEMP & Co. have now made arrangements for the preparation of this remedy on a large scale. It was originally prepared by D. S. Kemp in 1836, by a process of his contrivance; and at his request was subjected to extensive trial both in Government Hospitals and private practice; the result being that it was recognised as the best preparation of Chiretta extant, and an efficient substitute for Quinine.

As a TONIC, Saccharo-Chirettine promotes the appetite and assists digestion, strengthens the stomach, obviates flatulency, and diminishes the tendency to acidity. It is particularly beneficial where there is a disposition to gout. As a general Tonic in feebleness and debility of the whole system, especially of the muscles, it is not excelled by any remedy, producing marked effects after a few doses.

As an ANTIPERIODIC in Intermittent Fever, when taken between the paroxysms, it mitigates or prevents a recurrence of the attack.

It acts as an ANTHELMINTIC by strengthening the coats of the intestines, improving the general health, and expelling the Worms, without producing any irritating effects.

Per lb. Rs. 14. Per bottle Rs. 1-8.

"SIR,—One of my children, aged two years and four months, being troubled with worms, I was induced to try your Bon Bons. I purchased some from Mr. B. Two days after another dose, she again voided three more; three of them, the worst, measuring from 8 to 9 inches each in length. I consider them a most invaluable remedy, and should be tried by all suffering from worms.
